A Great Year Ahead

The Square Golf Ball is about to enter its' second year in existence. With the current trends, we anticipate Square Golf Ball sales to jump 5 through 10 fold during 2015. We've already staged ourselves for increased demand, and increased production abilities. Nothing is worse than a big demand and not enough inventory. In 2015 we'll do our best to keep up, but please be mindful that if demand overruns our production ability – well, we'll be here working 24/7 to catch up and satisfy everyone just as quickly as possible. Our production facility allows us to produce 1,500 – 2,000 units per week, which in most cases keeps us from running out of inventory. But we do get orders for 10,000+ from a single client – and those situations put us slightly behind in available inventory. Please know that during those situations, we continue to satisfy everyone, however larger orders may be broken into multiple deliveries, so that each client or buyer can start the flow of Square Golf Balls for their needs or events. Reflecting back, this time in 2013 we were busy at work behind the scenes, but the world had not yet seen The Square Golf Ball. Seems like it was just yesterday. We wish to thank each and every one of you who have either purchased, or visited our web site and become knowledgeable about this unique novelty item. Spread the word – tell your friends and neighbors, and help us to make 2015 a truly banner year.
